Gabriel Johnson of Sugar Kills Big Cinnamon.

SHOT IN PARLEY'S CANYON

"OLD ARM CHAIR" IS NOW BEARS' LAIR.

Not until he had pumped three big ifle bullets into a cinnamon bear which as one of the few remaining in Parey's canyon, and weighed in the neighborhood of 400 pounds. It was shot near the "Old Arm Chair." After he had used his last bullet and dropped the big animal, Johnson started forward to give him the finishing touch. The finishing touch, however, came near landing on the wrong side, for the big brute gave a last dying blow that had it not landed glancing on the nimrod would have temporarily at least, disabled him. It was at this neture that bruin's friends took the offensive, and gave Johnson a hard run for safety.

The bear was sold to a Salt Lake Following Johnson's success a party of six or seven Sugar ward residents came to the determination to get the Iwo cinnamons still left, and any others that might be tramping about the canyou. The hunters were still on the trail last night, but up to date the bears have not swamped the market. Mr. Johnson yesterday gave the fol-lowing account of his adventure:

Johnson Tells His Story.

"While out in the "Old Arm Chair" hunting for venison I incidentally ran onto the wrong kind. "I had walked the greater part of the day, and had not seen even a track, so I decided to return to my house. After walking for awhile I sat down on a rock and looked around me. What was my surprise upon looking up above me, see a large cinnamon bear coming In my direction. He was eating berries

"I did not have but five shots and did not know whether to shoot or not. But finally I thought I would risk it. I fired and struck his front foot. On looking around to see where I was, he started angrily toward me with full speed. I fired again striking him in the stomach. This stopped him a little and he took revenge on shrubs and everything in his path, tearing them to pieces. I missed the third and fourth ear was getting rather close, thought I had better go. I ran down the can-yon, closely followed for about half a mile. He had gained until he was within fifty yards of me. Then I turned and fired my last shell.

"My aim was good and brought the brute down. I started back, thinking him dead, when he raised up as I was ust even with him. He made one last stroke, which just reached me, tearing my clothes and making a couple of lit-trouble, and were coming to his help. I did not stop then to sit down in the 'Old Arm Chair,' but started with all

The next morning I got a wagon and | the date! went back. I had a hard time getting the bear down to the wagon dred pounds and was in fine condition.

CAUSE OF FIRE INVESTIGATED

Blaze Quickly Extinguished in West South Temple Street Saloon.

A fire was discovered about 4 o'clock sterday morning in the rear of the de street, and the fire department re-ponded to a still alarm and extinguished eadway. The cause is a mystery and is eing investigated.

The fire was reported to the depart-

The fire was reported to the department by telephone by a couple of men who were on their way to work at the dregon Short Line yards. As they were assing by they could see the saloon was filled with smoke, and the flames could be seen in the rear of the bar. Richard Freeze, who owns the saloon, closed the blace at 1:30 o'clock, and no one was seen in the saloon afterwards. There was no insurance on the building, but the saloon stock was insured for $700. The blaze burned a small hole in the bloor, but the firemen were unable to cell what started it. There was nothing ound which could have set fire to the loor and Chief Bywater is making a pareful investigation. areful investigati
